Selimiye

In many ways Selimiye on the Bozburun Peninsula is the jewel in the crown of the Bozburun Peninsula, Turkey. For many years a favourite destination for discerning Istanbul visitors, now getting more popular with visitors from all around the world.

Compared to Marmaris, Selimiye is a small resort, strung out along a stunning bay. The town has recently completed a fabulous boardwalk that enables you to take a relaxing stroll by the sea, along the complete length of the town. You will pass a number of wonderful fish restaurants that serve the best food in the area. In town you will find a number of quality art and craft shops for souvenirs of your visit to Selimiye.

Many people arrive in Selimiye by yacht or gulet. The town has a strong local reputation for traditional wooden boat building, so on the road into the town you will pass several boat yards where you will see massive wooden gulets being built in time-honoured traditional methods. Also look out for fresh figs, almonds and other goodies that you can buy from the small local shops.

Selimiye is a wonderful place to retreat from the pressures of modern life.

We hope to see you soon in beautiful Selimiye.
